Support with comments:

- The ENPA is asked to consider encouragement for an ecological enhancement plan for the entire site
- The size and mass of the proposed building in relation to the former building is not clear in the application and the ENPA is asked to ensure clarity (by using square metres rather than hectares)
- The BRPC would like to see timber facing/cladding treated in a sympathetic colour which is in keeping with the local environment and properties
- BRPC wishes to be assured that there will be a requirement to remove the temporary caravans when the new building is occupied
- BRPC wishes to be assured that should the building take longer to complete and occupy than the planning permission for the temporary caravans allows a further planning application for their permission is required.
